

Henry Lewis Jr.

1850-1950 Centennial Biography

Henry Lewis, Jr. was the sixth child of Henry and Jane Goodey Lewis, born in Lehi, May 24, 1885. He was baptized September 18, 1894. Attended public schools at Lehi, and the Brigham Young Academy at Provo.

As a young man, he helped with the construction of the Lehi Tabernacle.

He was called on a mission October 29, 1905, and left January 10, 1906 for the Northern States Mission. Most of his mission was spent laboring in LaCross, Wisconsin. While there he became acquainted with Sister Oliana Peterson, one of the Saints, whose home was always open to the Mormon missionaries. In appreciation of her kindness to him, he gave his second daughter her name.

After his mission in March, 1908, he was set apart as a counselor to the Third Ward Sunday School Superintendency.

June 30, 1909, he married Charlotte R. Evans. To this union five daughters were born.

He was a prominent successful farmer and very industrious. He was President of the Lehi Farm Bureau, vice-president of the Lehi Branch of Intermountain Farmers Organization, and vice-president of the Lehi National Farm Land Association. He was selected representative of local farm bureau, to represent them at Intermountain Beet Growers Convention, held in Denver, January 1920. He left Lehi, a week previous to his death, one of the healthiest men in the community and died at the age of thirty-five, in Denver, Colorado February 1, 1920.
